Profession Philosophy

Terry loves sharing the hope of Christ with the staff members, program participants, shelter guests, volunteers, and donors he encounters every day. He enjoys seeing the growth and development of those who are motivated to make deep change in their lives. He seeks to demonstrate Christ-centered leadership through defining what needs improvement; being “solution” focused; analyzing the issues and empowering others for the potential solutions while sustaining improvements to the organization. It is a pleasure and privilege to serve and meet the spiritual, emotional, and physical needs of the poor and homeless men, women, and children in the Kansas City area.
